NEW SHOE COMPANY IN MIDDLESEX STREET

Although a few minor details, including the signing of a lease, remain to be executed, the Quaker Shoe Co. Inc. of Lynn, are rapidly setting up machinery on the second floor of the Burgess-Lang building in Middlesex street, and in a short time will have their new plant in operation.

The Quaker Co. has been seeking quarters in Lowell for some time, and finally decided on the Burgess-Lang building as the most suitable location. It is expected that before long the enterprise will take in the entire second floor, and, perhaps, extend further.

This company specializes in the manufacture of boys' McKay last shoes. Just what the capacity of the factory will be when the company starts operations is not known, but it is estimated that it will be one of the largest of its kind in the city. In the event that the second floor proves inadequate, a further enlargement will be made, and the factory will be of a huge proportions.

A lease on the property was to have been signed today, but an account of the unavoidable absence of some of the parties to the contract this detail was postponed until early next week.

American Legion Will Name Eight Squares With Labor Day Exercises

On Labor day morning, the local post of the American Legion will dedicate eight squares in this city in memory of eight soldiers of French parents, who gave their lives in the World war.

The complete list of squares is not yet available, but the following eight will be named on Labor day: Common and Clark, Cabot and Merrimack, Moody and Allen, C.M.A.C., Tremont and Moody, Pawtucket, Paul and Cleverly, Riverside and Moody, Lakeview and Allen.

The services will open at 8.45 o'clock and will be similar to those conducted when the other squares were named. It is expected that Mlle. The entire program will be announced later.

Chairman Edward Fisher of the state board of arbitration and conciliation will confer with Mayor George H. Brown Monday morning at 10 o'clock relative to the textile situation in this city.

The mayor has had in mind the appointment of a citizen's committee, but the arrangement by which Monday's conference will take place has caused him to set the idea aside temporarily.

Vessel Capsized After Striking Rock in Quiberon Bay, North of St. Nazaire

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fifteen members of the crew of the French dreadnought France are missing and it is feared the vessel will be a total loss, it was learned this afternoon. The France capsized after striking a rock in Quiberon Bay, off Brest.

The French dreadnought, France, was completed in November, 1912, and has a normal displacement of 23,120 tons. She is 644 feet in length with a beam of 58 1/2 feet, and carries a crew of 1108 men.

Quiberon Bay, which is sheltered from the sea by the curving peninsula on which the town of Quiberon is situated, is forty miles northwest of St. Nazaire, an important American port of debarkation during the World war.

EDMUND B. CONANT DEAD

Sudden Death of Well Known Auctioneer at His Home in Talbot Street

The news of the sudden death of Mr. Edmund B. Conant, who passed away this morning at his home, 23 Talbot street, is received with profound regret by the citizens of Lowell who, for years, have known and respected him as a man of sincere purpose, a successful business man and highly respected member of the community.

Born at his office in 340 Central st. yesterday, he was the picture of health and because of his great energy and unceasing activity, his sudden death seems the more shocking, especially to those who had occasion to talk with him yesterday. After completing an average day's work, he retired to his home, in Talbot st. apparently in the best of health and spirits. Shortly after midnight the members of the household were aroused by his illness. Physical and nursing were immediately summoned and for a time, during the earlier hours of the morning, it was thought he would recover. Shortly before 6 o'clock, however, he sank rapidly, and with members of the household gathered by his bedside, he expired.

Believed He Would Recover

Conscious almost to the last, and with the opinion held that he would recover, Mr. Conant requested that the family be not alarmed over his condition. But it appears that he did not realize the seriousness of his sudden illness and after hovering between life and death during the night, he passed away in the early morning.

To chronicle the events in Mr. Conant's life is a difficult task with only the medium of words as a guide. He was of the third generation of a family of successful auctioneers and perhaps the most successful of his name for his achievements in business dealing far surpassed those of his father and grandfather. For 14 years he had carried on the business established at 310 Central street by his father in 1861. The fact that he still maintained the firm name of J. C. Conant & Co., and that he remained at the same old stand, has always been a source of pride to him.

In the years that he has carried on his business, his work has taken him into 22 states of the union and Canada, and by his ability he built up a reputation as the foremost auctioneer of manufacturing plants this side of the Mississippi river. Selling the largest plants all over the east, he convinced those who patronized his father or grandfather that the firm's reputation and standing were safe in his hands.

Edmund B. Conant was 66 years old last April. He was born in Bellingham, N. Y., the son of Julius Edmund Conant, and Laura (Nash) Edmund Conant.

WHERE THERE'S LOTS OF SCENERY

Barring not famed Brooklyn bridge, subways, Royal Gorge, Bartholdi statue, Pennsylvania Horseshoe Bend, nor aught else, one of the greatest exhibits of engineering and construction in this country is the railroad through Carriso Gorge, from Mexico twice, and is part of the only direct line from the Pacific coast to the Gulf of Mexico. At one point its track lies 3600 feet above sea level, and at another 49 feet below. Cost of the 11 miles through the Carriso Gorge was $9,039,000, the 21 tunnels alone costing $1,762,200. In the case of one tunnel, the train enters from the United States and emerges into Mexico. Riding in the sky, one looks down, thousands of feet, on acres of mountainside and mesa, the latter in the spring painted with brilliant blossoms of many varieties. The pictures show views of the mountains country and some of the obstacles overcome in the construction of the railway. In the lower right scene, note the tracks built across yawning chasms and along shelves cut into the solid rock.

THROUGHS CONTINUE TO PASS BIER OF COLLINS

DUBLIN, Aug. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Sorrowing throngs continue to pass the bier of Michael Collins, the slain chief of the Free State army, lying in state in the historic city hall, draped in mourning.

Meanwhile plans were going forward for a state military funeral Monday with burial in the Glasnevin cemetery, the resting place of Arthur Griffith, Parnell, and other conspicuous Irish leaders.

Only a fortnight ago, after Collins had helped to bear the body of Griffith down the aisle of the great Dublin cathedral, he spoke in conversation reverently of the man by whose side he had fought for Irish freedom, and recently he walked slowly through the streets of the capital to his unknown destiny.

In the same building where Griffith lay in state, Collins is now stretched cold but serene in death. "His work was finished," say the resigned and faithful who accepted his destiny without question.

Collins, like Theodore Roosevelt, was a man of dynamic force. He lived the strenuous life amid few ornaments. In his office at the government building is a bronze plaque of Roosevelt, the gift of American friends, on which the following quotation is engraved:

"I wish to preach not the doctrine of ignoble ease, but the doctrine of the strenuous life, of the effort and of the struggle, and of the high-aimed form of success that comes not to the man who desires more ease and peace but to him who does not shrink from danger, hardship or bitter toil, and who, out of these, wins the splendid and ultimate triumph."

That was Collins' creed.

MIDWAY AND BAZAAR IN HIGH STREET

The midway and bazaar being conducted by the McAndrew brothers for the benefit of the Holy Trinity church in high street, met with the church big night's success on last night. The midway opened at 8 o'clock and a large crowd was reported at the scene, but a still larger and more patronizing gathering was present at the bazaar. The bazaar, decorated booths and stands, and a fairly good business, the attractive novelties and displays being quickly disposed of. The affair was a success, and the proceeds will be used for the church's needs. The same act will be on the program tonight, weather permitting. Rev. Alexander Ogonowski, pastor of the church, is hopeful of continuing the carnival until Monday night if rain intervenes with this evening's closing. If on the other hand, the weather proves favorable, the affair will conclude tonight.

The municipal moving pictures for the coming week will be shown Monday night at the North common, Tuesday night at the North common, Wednesday at Washington park and Thursday at Lakeview avenue. 35 Members of Klan Acquitted

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 26.—Thirty-five alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan were free today, a jury which tried them on felony charges growing out of the Inglewood raid of April 22, having acquitted them last night after a little more than three hours of actual deliberation. Each of the defendants had been indicted on two counts of kidnapping, two of false imprisonment, and one of assault with a deadly weapon, and all had been under a total bond of $45,000. They were accused of having raided the home and bonded winery of Fidel and Matias of Eldrayen at Inglewood, a suburb, seized the men as alleged bootleggers and turned them loose after officials had refused to lock them up.

CONVICT RECAPTURED

Harry Milton Back in Penitentiary After Enjoying Year of Freedom

MOONSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 25.—Harry Milton, of Chicago, convicted burglar, was in the state penitentiary here again today after he had enjoyed one year of freedom. Sentenced to two to 10 years, Milton was a model prisoner, and was made a trustee. Last summer, the convict staged a benefit baseball game in the prison yard and Milton was selected to collect admission at the gate.

Considerable money passed into his hands, and during a heated part of the game, Milton, with the gate receipts in his pocket, slipped away.

Captain A. W. Athey, of the prison guards, was the man who trusted Milton, and when he was advised of the escape he said "I'll get him sooner or later."

Athey resigned from the guard several months ago to accept a position in Wheeling. Walking the streets there yesterday, he spied Milton. The recognition was mutual and the fugitive sped away, but Athey was not to be outdone and he captured Milton.

SUNDAY MOTORISTS BETTER WATCH OUT

Sunday motorists must take care tomorrow that they stay in line on any boulevard where there is heavy traffic, and not break out of line and then have to cut in sharply in front of a car. If they do this tomorrow they are placing themselves in a precarious position, with the number of people and more serious punishment from Registrar Frank Goodwin.

According to a letter received by Sgt. Atkinson of the police department from Mr. Goodwin, eight people were killed last Saturday and Sunday, and 150 injured because of this thoughtless act on the part of motorists. He says that this has got to stop and when machines are in a line on any road, no machine shall cut out of line if there is any danger of having to dodge into line again in front of another car. If anyone does this, and is apprehended by the police, they will be punished severely by the state registrar of motor vehicles.

He asks the superintendent that he instruct his officers to arrest any driver whom they see doing a stunt of the kind and to report the names of such persons to his office. He intends to wipe out this needless slaughter of human lives and will mete out severe punishment to those who violate this edict.

At 2:14 a. m. a roof fire was responsible for an alarm from box 214. A slight blaze on a roof at the corner of Union and Gorham streets occasioned the alarm.

GERMAN GOODS PILING UP TO HEAD OFF NEW TARIFF LAW

Women on Stump in Maine Campaign—Senator Walsh's Activity in Tariff Bill—New Hampshire Judge Shelling Beans at Quarantine Line

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—American manufacturers are warning congress that an immense quantity of goods marked "Made in Germany" are being received by importers and concealed for the present with the purpose of flooding the market as soon as the protective tariff bill is passed by congress.

It is said that thorough investigations by manufacturers have shown no trace on markets of large quantities of foreign goods, especially German goods, that have been shipped to this country. Federal records show such shipments to have been made, so the manufacturers assert. They cite German clocks as one illustration. In June the records of the department of commerce show $82,000 value (German rate) of clocks were imported to this country but not a trace of them can be found in the markets. It is also stated that German thermos bottles are sold in New York for less money than it costs the American manufacturers to produce the glass fillers for such goods. The difference in cost of production was recently pointed out by Chairman Fournier of the ways and means committee, who said the price of labor in Germany amounted to 45 cents a day for skilled mechanics; in France, $1.35 per day; England, $2.20 per day, while the skilled labor of the United States commanded wages amounting from $1 to $4 a day. If labor refuses to work at pre-war wages then the American public must pay the high prices or put the American manufacturer out of business, and put Germany again in control of much of the world commerce.

Congressman John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, who was sent abroad last spring as special representative of President Harding in investigating the economic conditions of Germany, states "I purchased at retail prices in first-class Coblentz stores an assortment of pocket knives, razors and scissors, with tags showing the prices. Comparison of these tags showed Chairman Fournier, to whom they were submitted by Col. Tilson, who is also a member of the ways and means committee, that scissors that cost only 10 cents a pair in Germany could be duplicated at a Washington store by paying $2.50 and by duplicating Col. Tilson referred to the retail price in Washington of German made scissors. Col. Tilson represents the New Haven district in congress, which is in the midst of the metal construction district, and so specialized on metal goods, while at the same time a general investigation of economic conditions.

Women on the Stump
Committees of both the republican and democratic organizations will put women on the stump for the tariff campaign, according to reports coming from Maine, where the campaign is already at its height, owing to the fact that Maine is the only state which holds its election before November 7th. The Maine election is September 20 and the state is now in the midst of the metal construction district, and so specialized on metal goods, while at the same time a general investigation of economic conditions.

Senator Walsh's Stand
Senator Walsh found it impossible to remain at home for a much needed rest, and after a few days spent at his home in Massachusetts came back in state to openly condemn the republican tariff bill, both by his voice and voted protest against its passage.

He called the legislation "abominable" and declared the tariff for revenue only principle and tariff for protection of infant industries had been abandoned; that clause was not adopted, so men voted only for the interest of the localities they represent not least on representing party affiliation or policies. "They dictate the rates," said he, "which favored industries in their own localities, demand, that they be lowered to the level of the rest of the country. The American people will pay a high toll on food-stuffs, clothing and other necessities. He denounced as "cold and brazen" the methods employed to bestow special privileges on special favored groups rather than provide general benefits for the whole people. He declared that congress had maintained a bargain counter where tariff duties were negotiated.

Congressman Rogers' Work
Congressman John Jacob Rogers of Lowell will be at the head of the foreign affairs committee for the remainder of the session. In addition to the duty of presiding over and marking out the legislative work of that important committee, he will have the last word in committee recommendations. Rogers is acting chairman during the absence of Chairman Porter in Brazil. Porter is going to South America with Secretary of State Hughes. Temple of Pennsylvania is third in rank on the committee, and he is in Europe with a congressional delegation. Rogers is a member of the committee on foreign affairs and other diplomatic matters, and with far less experienced men as lieutenants.

Quarantine on Beans
Maine has a quarantine on beans, and it is no respecter of persons, not even of judges on the New Hampshire bench, just across the state line, according to stories told by returning visitors to the Pine Tree state. Beans have been held up crossing the old toll bridge at Kittery, he is not apt to know that it is almost as hazardous to carry a mass of beans across the line in a car-kil, as to attempt to boot-leg a bottle across the turbulent tide of Portsmouth harbor, which separates the two states. So it happened the other day the Hon. Louis G. Hoyt, judge of the Rockingham County probate court was seen sitting weekly by the road-side shelling beans. It happened this way. The judge was taking a friend from Kingston, where he lives, down to Portsmouth, passing through Portsmouth. They saw for sale shell beans of prodigious size. "Let's take some home for dinner," said the judge, and the beans were bought and tucked safely in the car. At the old toll bridge that connects Maine with New Hampshire the judge told his tale and passed on unchallenged, all unconcerned of wrong-doing. He reached the Maine shore and speeded along the state highway. Then a man wearing an official badge as big as a dinner plate rushed to the middle of the road, held up a warning hand and shouted: "Have you any beans in your car?" The astonished judge said he had, then backed up and in his most impressive court tone, demanded "What has that to do with it?" "Quarantine," replied the official tersely. "I want those beans for dinner," said the judge. "Nothing doing," said the man, with a firmness that showed not a bean pod could cross the dead-line. Then it was that Judge Hoyt solved the riddle and had the beans for supper. "We will shell 'em," said he with the dignity of a judicial decision. The official grimaced assent, the judge parked his car by the road-side, then sat on the grass and shelled the beans.

long as he lives, provided he truly represented the people of Massachusetts. I do not believe he does. Massachusetts is a forward looking commonwealth. She has always led in moral, industrial and political reforms. Mr. Lusk has helped to enact none of this progressive legislation and has opposed much of it."

Fight for Governor
Attorney General Allen is keeping up his campaign for the nomination for governor, but he does not seem to be making much headway against the live and vigilant forces of Governor Cox. It appears from the present outlook that he is going to be beaten and that he will have no opportunity to clear out the political corruptionists which he claims have control of the state administration.

On the democratic side, John P. Fitzgerald is proving himself to be the most active campaigner for the nomination but Mayor Sullivan of Worcester is rapidly growing in strength as a candidate against the field. He seems to have a magnetic personality and is drawing the support of the average voter; but he is not well known in this part of the district and that is probably his greatest weakness. Hon. Joseph My is also making an active campaign in the western part of the state so that it is difficult at this stage to say which of the candidates will be honored with the nomination.

Warner vs. Fuller
The fight for lieutenant governor between Hon. Joseph B. Warner and Lieutenant Governor Fuller is taking on a new twist, and both candidates are appearing at almost all the political meetings held throughout the state. Mr. Warner fearful that the lieutenant governor might hold something up his sleeve until after the election, has sent out an address in which he has demanded that if Mr. Fuller has any charges to make against him, he shall make them now rather than at the eleventh hour when there will be no rest, and after a few days spent at his home in Massachusetts came back in state to openly condemn the republican tariff bill, both by his voice and voted protest against its passage.

"I am mindful that he said at Lowell a week ago that he always preached clean politics, but I cannot forget that his practices have always been to make eleven-hour attacks upon his opponents."

"I was myself the victim of such an attack two years ago. For the first and only time in my public career extending over a period of thirteen years in legislation, I voted that I had not been faithful to my trust, as a result of that allegation I was defeated by 582 votes out of a total of 206,000 ballots."

The Local Contest
In the local field there are several very lively contests and that which is going on in the 15th representative district including wards 4 and 5 is probably the most interesting. The candidates are Thomas J. Corbett, John J. Shea, Lawrence L. Galvin and Dennis J. Donohue. Mr. Corbett is making an active canvass as is each of his opponents. The latter are circulating the sentiment that Mr. Corbett has just caught and shot some body else should have a chance. It would be fatiguing and unsafe at this time to venture a prediction as to the outcome.

In the 15th district Victor Jewett, Joseph J. and Adelaide Herara are candidates on the republican side, and joined this year by Arthur H. Chadwick, Napoleon J. Vigeant and William H. Burdett. On the democratic side are John J. Gray and William J. Burdett. Mr. Gray states that he will deliver a public address in which he will give reasons why Messrs. Jewett, Achin and other republican candidates should be defeated and democratic candidates elected. The public will await with interest this address. Mr. Gray says he has something important to say relative to these candidates and their legislative records.

JOHN A. STEWART 100

Adviser to Lincoln and Friend of John D. Celebrates Birthday

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Aug. 26.—John A. Stewart, chairman of the board of trustees of the United States Trust company of New York, adviser to Abraham Lincoln and friend of John D. Rockefeller, today celebrated the 100th anniversary of his birth. He was made secretary of the United States Trust company when it was organized in 1853, and succeeded Joseph Lawrence as president. He has been a trustee and counsel for of Princeton University for more than 30 years.

DEMAND REMOVAL OF BOSTON POSTMASTER

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Members of Boston local 100, National Federation of Post Office Clerks, incensed over alleged interference in the private affairs of their organization by Postmaster Baker and First Assistant Postmaster-General Bartlett, yesterday sent telegrams to Postmaster-General Work, Senator Lodge and President Foulke of the National Civic Reform association, protesting against "malicious and illegal intimidation" and requesting the removal from office of Postmaster Baker.

Appreciated the offer of the union officials at his summer home at Rye Beach, N. H. last night, Postmaster Baker declined to make any statement whatever regarding it. Members of the finance committee of the local, in calling attention to the state branch convention to be held in Faneuil Hall, Sept. 3 and 4, mailed a circular letter to the home addresses of each member, which cited information relative to salaries, state convention, prize contests, bulletins, auxiliary and kindred subjects for the personal information of the members. To the surprise of the employees, the edition of the "Daily Bulletin," issued on Aug. 21 by the post office department at Washington, reprinted excerpts from the circular and made them the subject of editorial comment under the signature of John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster-general. On Thursday of this week the entire front page of the weekly local bulletin, containing the same matter, was republished and posted in every post-office in and within 25 miles of Boston, although the circular was a routine one and contained nothing to which any one could claim legitimate exception, or that warranted outside action.

TAMPICO, MEXICO SWEPT BY FIRE

TAMPICO, Mexico, Aug. 26.—(By A. P.)—The business district here was swept by fire yesterday. Three persons are known to be dead and 12 persons were seriously injured. Property damage estimated at more than $300,000. The origin of the fire is not known. The conflagration was the worst in the history of this port. Twenty-seven commercial houses were destroyed by flames, while several others were torn down in an effort to check the fire's spread. A large number of chemicals in a drug store while firemen were inside caused the deaths.

SUCH PAINS AS THIS WOMAN HAD

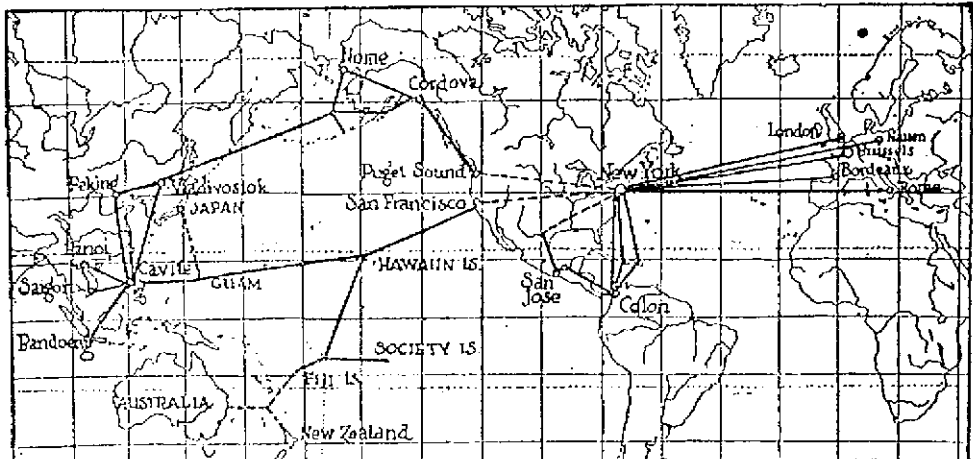

Two Months Could Not Turn in Bed. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Finally Restored Health

Seattle, Washington.—"I had dragging pains first and could not stand on my feet, then I had chills and fever and such pains in my right side and a hard lump there. I could not turn myself in bed and could not sleep. I was this way for over two months, trying everything any one told me, until my sister brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until all the hard pains had left me and I was able to be up and to do my work again. The hard lump left my side and I feel splendid in all ways. I know of many women it has helped." Mrs. G. RICHARDSON, 4510 Orcas St., Seattle, Washington.

This is another case where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought results after "trying everything any one told me" had failed. If you are suffering from pain, nervousness and are always tired; if you are low spirited and good for nothing, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may not only relieve the present distress, but prevent the development of more serious trouble. It will pay you to get The Sun classified adv. habil.

Greatest Radio Trade Belongs To the United States Navy

By N. E. A. Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—The world's greatest radio business is being conducted by the United States Navy. Facts and figures given out by naval officials here show an increased volume of messages among the department's radio stations, which they say surpasses the business of any other country or corporation on earth. That does not exclude the world-wide business of the radio industry, which is being contemplated by Great Britain.

The immensity of the naval radio service may be judged from the fact that the department has more than 25,000,000 invested in this undertaking. More than 8,000,000 words are transmitted monthly. Besides the naval official business, the navy does $10,000,000 worth of commercial radio business annually.

COVER GLOBE
This naval radio business extends to all parts of the earth, over land and sea—and into the air. For each naval airplane also has a complete transmitting and receiving set by which it can communicate with its ship or land station or with other airplanes.

Along both our coasts and at points on our inland possessions are naval radio compass stations which form a chain of safety for ships at sea. There are more than 50 of these stations, all built up within the last three years. By furnishing bearings to ships approaching the coast, these stations have helped considerably in saving lives, time and property. It is during foggy weather, or stormy seas, that a vessel seeking port finds the aid of the naval compass station most beneficial. For lying off port until the fog lifts or the storm calms means an expense of at least $500 to the ship owner.

Radio Set for Every Family Is Prediction of Inventor

LEE DE FOREST
By N. E. A. Service
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Twenty million radio receivers will be in operation in the United States within five years.

That is the startling prediction made here by Lee De Forest, inventor and pioneer in radio progress. The Forest is best known as the performer of the audition, or three-act vacuum tube, by which modern radio has been made possible.

According to this inventor, nearly every family in the United States will have a radio set by 1927. The radio, he says, will surpass the phonograph and even the telephone in popularity, because of its wide variety of entertainment.

By 1927, he believes, radio will be developed to the point where it will be able to operate it with ease, and

Jumps Track and Crashes Into Pole—22 Sent to Hospital

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 25.—A crowded trolley car ran wild down Walnut avenue hill during a terrific rain and electrical storm here last night, jumped the tracks after speeding three city blocks and was wrecked against concrete and metal lighting poles on a corner. Twenty-two passengers were removed to hospitals.

The momentum of the car increased in its dash down the hill and it snapped off the poles on the corner and left the car directly in front of the steps of an apartment building.

First reports from the hospitals were to the effect that none of the passengers had been seriously injured, the majority suffering from bruises and shock.

MANY LOWELL PEOPLE IN LOS ANGELES

It may be of interest to residents of this city to learn that there is practically a colony of Lowell people living in Los Angeles, Cal. This information was given out by Joseph Landry, a veteran of the World war, who, while touring the country with his wife for his health, which was greatly impaired through the effect of shells and gases on the battlefields of France, spent six months in Los Angeles.

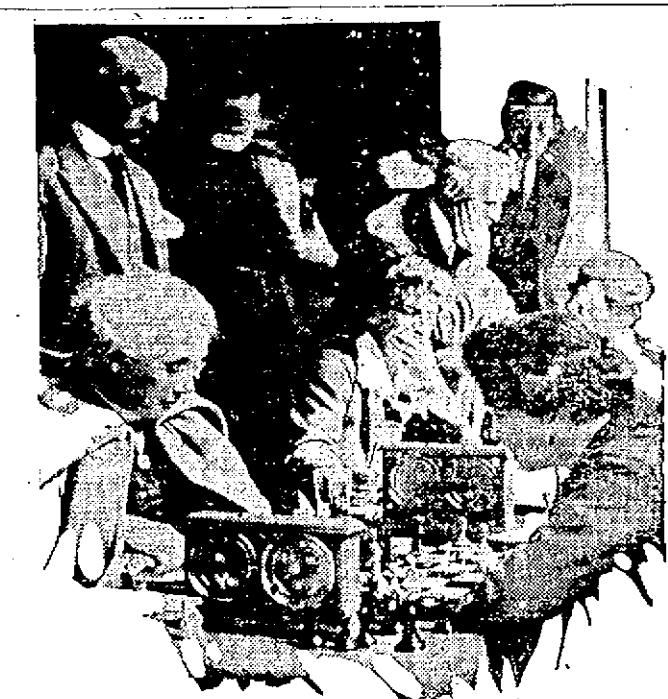

Mr. and Mrs. Landry returned to Lowell a short time ago and they intend to establish themselves here indefinitely. Mr. Landry stated that during his stay in Los Angeles he met Philip Davis, a former resident of this city, who left Lowell a great many years ago. Mr. Davis will be remembered here as a painting contractor and choir-master at St. Joseph's church. Shortly after his arrival in California he went into the orange growing business and achieved a great success. He is now 72 years of age and has retired from active work.

Charles G. Vian and his family are also located in Los Angeles, but when Mr. Landry left the California city, the Vian family was making preparations to move to San Francisco. Mr. Vian was a plumbing and heating contractor in this city. He left here about two years ago and settled in Los Angeles, where he secured employment as a traveling salesman for a large plumbing concern. One of his sons is engaged in the electrical business, while another is conducting a plumbing establishment. The Vian people are prosperous, but they are talking of coming back to Lowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Telesphore Faubert, formerly of Methuen street, are also residents of Los Angeles. Mr. Faubert, who, while on his stay in this city, was employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company has been transferred to the Los Angeles office of the company and is doing well. The couple are planning to come to Lowell next year to dispose of their real estate and it may be that they will return to the west.

Patrik McLaughlin, a glazier formerly employed by the C. B. Coburn Co. of this city, is also a member of the Lowell community at Los Angeles. Mr. McLaughlin with his wife and children left Lowell about two years ago. Mr. McLaughlin is a real estate broker and Mr. Landry reports that he is one of the wealthy men of Los Angeles.

The latest recruits for Los Angeles are Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Lagasse, who at one time made their home in the Centralville section of this city. For the past few years the Lagasse family has been located in Worcester, but a few months ago they crossed the country and located at Los Angeles. Mr. Lagasse intends to go into the real estate business. There are several other former Lowell residents in Los Angeles, but Mr. Landry was unable to recall their names. He says the city is an ideal place for a craftsman, for there is considerable building going on, but a man without a trade had better keep away.

Clothes Unmake House Peters as a Screen Hero

HOUSE PETERS. HE'S ONE OF THE MOST HEROIC FIGURES ON THE SCREEN.

MARY PHILBIN. ERIC VON STROHEIM PREDICTS A GREAT FUTURE FOR HER.

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—House Peters on the screen is a lot like a boy in real life—put a stiff collar on him and he doesn't put a bit of natural.

In "Human Hearts" Peters is a horny-handed blacksmith. His personality fairly oozes out of his hickory shirt and his corduroys.

In "Rich Men's Wives," another recent release that features Peters, he appears in evening clothes. He appears just about as stiff and uncomfortable in that picture as a ten-year-old appears after running around all week in only pants and party-waist.

The personality of House Peters could not be entirely submerged in any role unless it called for a fancy mask. He is one of those few screen players who are blessed with features that reflect the mental processes. There is only one face on the screen that registers emotion more quickly and surely than that of Peters. It belongs to Bill Hart.

Give Peters a moment in which he overcomes an enemy or conquers a weakness or fear of his own, and you have the most heroic sight the screen possesses.

There is something in the lift of the head, in the gleam of the eye, in the minute reaction of facial muscles that makes you believe Peters is actually living the moment of greatness the scenario has given him.

One of the dearest moments in "Monte Cristo," a very lively picture, occurred when John Gilbert came out of the sea and, flinging wide his arms, exclaimed, "The world is mine!" I believe if Peters had played that role that that episode would have been the most thrilling in the picture. He would have made you believe for the moment that the world really was his.

Some photographs are hard to follow because they are cluttered up with superfluous characters, with players whose roles have no direct bearing on the plot and create no atmosphere. The scenario and director usually make the mistake of trying to give characters something to do. This distracts the spectator.

Lucien Hubbard, scenarist, and King

Baggett, director, used their noodles, as the saying goes, when they worked on the screen. They were given Mary Philbin for the play, but the play had no part for her. So they introduced her with a subtle and let her run loose in the picture, finding an excuse once in a while for taking a close-up of her.

You see, Mary won a beauty contest and got into the movies that way. She is very young and very beautiful, but has had no training for the screen.

A good horse-breaker turns his young stock out in pasture near a railroad so the colts become used to trains gradually. That was the way it was done in "Black Beauty," you remember.

It may be for a like purpose that Mary Philbin was placed in this picture. They wanted to break her to the camera by degrees.

She is playing a very important role now in "Merry Go Round," being filmed by Eric Von Stroheim.

The old fallacy that women kills the domestic instinct in man and in woman is worked again in "Rich Men's Wives." As a girl, Claire Windsor is very much neglected because her father is busy making money and her mother has too many social obligations.

As a wife she's out of luck again. Her husband is wealthy. That means that he doesn't take much interest in her and she gets into an innocent but embarrassing situation with a lounge lizard.

There is more neglect of poor men's wives than of rich men's wives because there are so many poor men. That's the reason there are so many photoplays and stories like this one written. They afford a reprieve to both the poor men and their wives. They take the edge off the envy of the rich.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND THEATRE

New James Oliver Curwood Picture to be featured First Three Days of Week—Vaudeville Sunday

A new James Oliver Curwood picture, "The Broken Silence," will be featured at the Strand for the first three days of the coming week.

This production gives promise of being the most elaborate and most exciting to reach the screen so far. The story, a fascinating tale of love and intrigue, is intermingled with a series of dramatic episodes that work up to a smashing climax at the close, is surely the kind that will meet the fancy of all patrons. It's a picture story, with a number of interesting characters.

The featured player is again seen in unusual advantage and her work, together with the supporting cast, is of a high order. The picture is a masterpiece of the screen, and is a picture that will give a strong appeal to all patrons.

"The Pace Between," the second feature, with Bert Lytell starred, is a picture of a story by James Oliver Curwood. It deals with the sacrifice of Tommy Carter, a New York society man, who, to save the reputation of his father, becomes an exile in the Blue Ridge mountains, turning his back on everything, even to the point of deserting the girl whom he had hoped to marry.

During his banishment a mountain girl falls in love with him and, despairing of being able to return to civilization, he decides to marry her, but she is shot by a jealous lover and the young man finds himself surrounded by a more than a few enemies.

It would be rather unfair to those who are to see the picture to relate the various complications which then result, and the final solution. It is a picture that is a masterpiece of the screen, and is a picture that will give a strong appeal to all patrons.

SOUSA'S BAND IS COMING

EDWARDS MAY RETIRE

BEFORE JANUARY 1

CONCERT WILL BE BY

SELECTION OF AUDIENCE

HOSTON, Aug. 26.—Maj. Gen. Clarence B. Edwards, commander of the 1st Corps Area, who is to be automatically retired on Jan. 1 when he reaches the age of 64, may retire a few months before that time in order to save some younger officer from the official ax that must soon fall on many high officers.

Because of recent legislation, a special general board, known in army circles as the "picking board," is preparing a list of officers for retirement. These officers are wanted very much in the army, but they must go. Many have 10 or 15 years to serve before they reach retirement age. In order to have a few of them, Gen. Edwards and six other general officers have been asked to retire a little early, and thus make room for the younger men.

Gen. Edwards did not want to make any definite statement about his retirement, but he did say, through his former aide, Maj. Hyatt, that he had received the request. He has only four months more to serve and then will retire with all the rank, pension and privileges of a major general. His retirement, before January could in no way be regarded as detracting from his honorable record.

But there is an exception, or rather, a semi-exception to this rule. Sousa reserves the right always to place "The Stars and Stripes" where he thinks it belongs. Thus, if an audience calls for that great march, an extra following number in which the trumpets and trombones have been worked hard, Sousa takes the second choice of the audience, and plays "The Stars and Stripes" instead of the trumpet-cornet.

You will like Sousa and the story. For Sunday the only vaudeville entertainment and an entire change of pictures will be given.

MEMORABLE SQUARE THEATRE
Big Double Feature Program for First Three Days of Next Week—Excellent Sunday Program

In order to keep up the policy of bigger and better Sunday programs one of the vaudeville acts, the "Stars and Stripes," will be featured on Sunday. This is the main feature on the bill.

Neilan Aids Blanche Sweet, His Wife, in Comeback

VIRGINIA BROWN FAIRER, A RECENT HOSTESS OF THE STANNETT COMEDY MOVIES, SHE HAS HAD FEATURING ROLES IN "WITHOUT BENEFIT OF CLERGY" AND "MONTE CRISTO."

KATHRYN MAGUIRE, A MEMBER OF THE STANNETT COMEDY MOVIES, SHE GAINED RECOGNITION AS AN ACTRESS OF ABILITY IN "CROSS ROADS OF NEW YORK."

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Blanche Sweet is now working before the camera in "Quincy Adams Sawyer," which marks her first screen appearance in several years. A latter concerning that picture comes to hand from Peter Gribboy Smith, personal representative of Marshall Neilan, who became Miss Sweet's husband two months ago.

Neilan, according to Smith, "is anxious to have his wife's return to the screen mark her greatest historic achievement and in giving her every assistance with this end in mind. He has been devoting considerable time and attention to the supervision of the preparatory work leading up to her next appearance before the camera."

This news wouldn't have much significance if it were not for the fact that working women have already been branded from Hollywood a rumor to the effect from the new Neilan-Sweet house is already divided against itself, especially speaking.

This movie has recently turned to satire of themselves. Now they will attempt to tell the story of the life of the people who make up the Hollywood colony. This, not by way of propaganda to show that the colony is not a nest of idlers, but to show that the colony is a nest of idlers.

Glenn Hunter will play the role of Merton Gill, the young correspondence school actor who tried to introduce "something better and finer" in the studios and on the screen. Hunter will also appear in the stage dramatization of the story.

Rhapsody on a rising just received from Percy Ruth Miller. She dwells on the idea as it is employed in the movies and in real life.

"Cynicism are dear cheap, according to what is at the moment that the sort of womanhood craves," writes Percy. "They kiss with equal fervor for an hour at the movies or a fur cloak. The state of life may accurately the dark work things, but in the artfulness on their common weapon the kiss all women are sisters under the skin."

"The growth of cynicism is resulting in drastic changes in the screen lens. This day of the finger kiss will come, players being forced to stand a foot apart, touching oculatory glances with gentle pressure."

Percy Ruth suggests that in "lutes where cinema limit the feelings of a kiss the scene is interrupted with a subtle reading 'Twenty Minutes Later'."

There's a fallacy in that, cynics, in Ohio at least have the right to cut out the subtitle.

Cathy Ruth Miller is 17 and she has never been kissed—on the screen. Mac Hurch is another actress who has never been kissed in the movies.

The Old-Time Dance Is Due For a Comeback—And Why

BY MARIAN HALE

The revival of the cakewalk is the outstanding result of the annual convention of the American National Association of Dancing Masters.

Everyone will be doing it before the season is over.

And that isn't all. We'll shed our troubles, beautifully and naturally. The cakewalk will be forgotten and the hills will be unopened while we go on with the dance.

Obviously, the interest in this old step, popular some 20 years back, has been fostered by the colored revues which are thick on Broadway.

But if you care for a more high-brow, psychological explanation, you may have that too. I got it from Valodia Vestoff, who introduced the cakewalk at the convention. Says he: "Dancing collects the mental attitude of a people. In calm, leisurely times we had the beautiful, leisurely, formal days of the minuet.

"Recently we have been going at a terrible rate and have danced wildly and recklessly. That's because life has been driving us too hard.

"Now, as a nation, we are tired. The strain of high rents, unemployment and disillusionment generally has brought on a need for relaxation so that we may regain our poise. And here is where the cakewalk will be our ally.

"You can't be worried about business or full of complexes, and dance the cakewalk. Or if you start out

Gambling Casino Rivals Monte Carlo

MOSCOW, Aug. 26.—(By the Associated Press)—A gambling casino rivaling the famous Monte Carlo casino in magnitude of play has been opened in Moscow. Crowds are continually milling about the various tables during the hours of play, which are from 8 in the evening until 10 in the morning. There is a scattering representation of foreigners, but those who spend the night at bacaret, roulette and other games where the minimum play ranges from ten million to one hundred million rubles are mostly Moscovites. Millions of rubles change hands on each deal at bacaret. Most of the profit taken by the house goes to the government in taxes or famine benefits. The house draw of 5 per cent. is reported on one night to have totalled more than fifty billion rubles, indicating that the play reached one trillion rubles, or the equivalent of $325,000.

MORE THAN 150 PERSONS INJURED BY AUTOS LAST SATURDAY

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Asks Co-operation of Police and Public—New Law Relative to Sale of Firearms Will Become Operative Monday—State House News

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—More than one hundred and fifty persons were injured in automobile accidents in this state last Saturday and Sunday, and in addition, eight were killed.

This appalling number is declared by Frank J. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, to have been too great a sacrifice to speed and recklessness, and he is hopeful that during the present week-end, as well as at all other times when motor vehicle traffic is heavy, the police will send to him the names of all persons who try to use too much speed on crowded highways.

"One of the principal causes of last week's accidents," Mr. Goodwin says, "was the all too prevalent custom of attempting to pass other vehicles on crowded thoroughfares, necessitating sudden cutting in front of other machines."

"I hope that in future the police, and other persons as well, will send to me the names of all operators who are guilty of this dangerous practice, so that I may deal with them as they deserve. Any operator who frequently heavily traveled highways must make up his mind that he cannot go faster than the line of travel in which he happens to find himself, unless he is absolutely sure he can pass without having to cut in front of another car. Practically all the operators on the highways on Sundays are on pleasure bent, and they should operate carefully and unobtrusively."

"To kill eight persons and injure one hundred and fifty more is sacrificing too much to speed and selfishness. The only way to stop this is by strict enforcement by the police. I hope they will do everything in their power to prevent repetition of last week's slaughter."

Sale of Firearms

On Monday next there will become operative in this state a new law governing the sale of firearms, a measure which has been in vogue in this state for many years.

It takes away from the city council in each municipality its existing authority to grant licenses for the sale of firearms, and transfers this authority to the regular licensing authorities. In addition it provides that every licensed dealer must report to the local police and to the state commissioner of public safety, at least once each week, every sale made in which a firearm is involved.

Its most drastic provisions, however, are those which prohibit more particularly to the purchaser. Under its terms, no alien may purchase a firearm of any kind unless he has a permit to carry it. A citizen who has no permit to carry a firearm must give at least twenty hours' notice of his intention to purchase one, and immediately upon receipt of the firearm, the dealer is required to report it to the police. In order that opportunity may be given them to investigate the character of the applicant, and to determine whether or not he is a proper person to be permitted to carry a dangerous weapon.

The more important sections of the new law read:

"The licensee (dealer) shall, once a week, send a copy of the record of sales made by him for the preceding seven days to the licensing authorities and to the commissioner of public safety. Every firearm shall be securely wrapped and fastened and shall be unloaded when delivered. No delivery of a firearm shall be made on the day of the application for the purchase except to a person having a permit to carry a firearm.

"The licensing authorities may suspend the license of the licensee if they have received satisfactory proof after a hearing that he has violated or has permitted another to violate the conditions of the license. A license so forfeited shall be forfeited for one year from the expiration of the license.

"No unlicensed foreign born person shall within the commonwealth, own or have in his possession or under his control a firearm, unless such person has a permit to carry such firearm. Any violation of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or both.

"Whoever sells or furnishes to a minor, under fifteen, or to an unlicensed foreign born person who has not a permit to carry firearms, any firearm or other dangerous weapon or ammunition, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars, but instructors and teachers may furnish military weapons for instruction and drills."

The Political Field

Little out of the ordinary has occurred in the political field during the past week; nothing has occurred to furnish any better indication than was then to be had as to the probable outcome of the many contests.

Although it was stated several days ago that the headquarters of Senator Lodge's campaign committee had been closed, because it was considered that there was no need for keeping them open longer, it is perhaps significant that the senator since has come into the state to conduct his own campaign, and plans to speak almost daily until the primaries.

There is no denying the fact that the Walker campaign has developed unexpected strength, although none has yet been found with any reputation for political astuteness who is willing to risk it upon a prediction that Walker can win the nomination. But that he will receive many more votes than were estimated a few weeks ago seems certain.

Governor Cox, too, has apparently decided to abandon his declared intention of making no campaign, and is making daily speeches. In his case, also, activity is assumed to indicate no fear of defeat, but rather a desire to prevent the ending of any considerable number of votes for his opponent.

The Warner Hearing

Political writers are accustomed to funny scenes, but none in recent years has excelled in humorous features that afforded them last Tuesday, in connection with the hearing given by the ballot law commission on the protest of Joseph Joseph K. Warner against what he deemed an illegal act on the part of the commission in permitting a change in the descriptive words which the lieutenant-governor desired to have printed on the primary ballot after his name.

Fuller wrote a letter to the commission stating that the matter was trivial, and that he didn't care a hoot what appeared on the ballot, but he engaged the best known election attorney in Boston to deliver the letter, and this attorney argued for half an hour in an effort to convince the commission that its action in making the change previously requested by Mr. Fuller was legal. At the close of the argument, the commission upheld Mr. Warner's protest and decided that it had acted illegally in making the change.

The present state treasurer, James Jackson, is a native figure in public life. Other candidates studiously avoid taking sides in primary contests, for fear of antagonizing the friends of one of the candidates, and thereby decreasing their own vote. This policy is usually described as "pussy-footing,"—something Mr. Jackson fails to approve.

He believes that the man of courage is the man who ultimately succeeds in politics, and he is putting his theory to the test. Nightly he takes the stump and boldly announces his opposition to Attorney-General Allen, and his support of Governor Cox, seldom referring in any way to the fact that he has opposition for his own office.

It is an experiment which will be studied with interest when the primary returns come in. HOYT.

BIG SHORTAGE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Despite the fact that a number of new school buildings will be opened in various parts of the state during the coming month, the shortage which has developed in school buildings is so serious that it will take ten years to overcome it, according to a report expressed by officials of the state department of education today. Local authorities have been spurred to action during the past year to provide additional school facilities and as a result new junior high schools or senior high schools are being planned or practically completed in the following communities: Boston, Fall River, New Bedford, Lynn, Peabody, Somerville, Wakefield, Lawrence, Lowell, Fitchburg, Watertown, Norwell, Waltham, Brookline, Adams, Attleboro, Northbridge, West Springfield, Agawam, Longmeadow, Belcherstown, Ware, Palmer and Charlton. Besides the foregoing construction, it is estimated there are 160 additional schools needed in communities in the state.

The department points out that a special study was made into the question of the shortage of building and it was disclosed that a number of schools were forced to take care of two classes on the same day, which was termed a double shift or plan. This was the case in 1,000 pupils were attending school under this handicap.

Dwelling upon the increase in the number of pupils who must be accommodated with school facilities, the report of the department reads, "While the normal rate of new construction was retarded by unusual conditions prevailing as a result of the war, there occurred an increase of over 14,000 in the number of pupils to be housed. Various causes other than the natural increase have been operating to bring about this growth in pupil enrollment. The recent law raising the age of children to be met before the children under 16 years of age are permitted to leave school and the failure of industry to employ the usual number of children owing to the recent industrial depression are factors that have operated to retard the school age population."

"More than one half the places reporting a shortage of buildings are either constructing new school houses or have made an appropriation for the purpose. Thirty-one buildings are now being constructed at a cost of nearly $1,000,000.

SUCCESSFUL PERIOD FOR CADILLAC

"Cadillac has been experiencing the most successful period in its history," says Mr. H. H. Rice, president and general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car company, in a statement issued at the request of representatives of the press.

"In the first place, the Type 51 Cadillac cars have been the most successful cars in the world, which the company has ever produced in its 20 years of production of quality cars," according to Mr. Rice.

"In the second place, the production and sales of the Type 51 cars have been proceeding at a rate considerably in excess of all previous schedules. A majority of our distributors report by far the best business in their entire career. There has been a gradual enlargement of the Cadillac service and sales organization until it now includes many communities heretofore regarded as somewhat too small for a sales and service station of a quality car."

"The Type 51 as it stands today contains within itself many improvements even over what it was several months ago. Scarcely a week passes but some still finer limits of precision are extended in building the car. In fact, on many parts, even more care is used than in making the chassis."

"The builders of the Cadillac are constantly installing manufacturing and engineering improvements as rapidly as they have been proved and found decidedly advantageous to the owner of the Cadillac car."

ONE DEAD, ONE MAY DIE
IN CROSSING ACCIDENT

CUMBERLAND, R. I., Aug. 26.—One man is dead and two may die as the result of a collision between an automobile and a train on the Berkley Crossing here early last night. The automobile sped down a steep hill approaching the blind crossing and when the brakes would not hold the driver attempted to beat the train across. He was late by seconds and the locomotive hit the rear wheel of the car, throwing it 15 feet.

Thomas Slater, aged 32, of Ashton,
was killed outright.

Joseph Lussier, aged 24, of Mandon road, Berkley, is dying in Pawtucket.

Memorial hospital with a fractured
spine and internal injuries.

Charles Harpley, aged 28, is in a critical condition at his home in Ashton with a fractured femur and internal injuries.

Fred Bancroft, aged 30, of Ashton
and his seven-year-old son, Fred Jr.,
escaped with minor injuries.

The machine was owned by Bancombe. He had invited his three friends to attend a twilight baseball game on Berkley oval and the party had left Ashton shortly before seven o'clock. The train on the Worcester & Providence railroad was late and the crossing tender, Gunther Sauter, declared that he waved his "stop" signal just as the automobile topped the crest of the hill. There are no safety gates at the crossing.

At 82, This Woman Still Shows 'Em' Something About Swimming

Right Side Up ----- Up Side Down

MRS. GEORGE EVANS, 82, "GETTING WET" AND (RIGHT) IN THE MIDDLE OF A "BACK DIVE"

By N. E. A. Service
VANCOUVER, Aug. 25.—Head first, feet first, any old way into the chilly water.

It's all the same to Mrs. George Evans of Vancouver in spite of the fact that she has left 82 summers behind her.

Like many American women, Mrs. Evans grew up and into middle age in a middle west town where swimming as an art was known little and practiced not at all.

When she was 64 the family came to Vancouver and Mrs. Evans, seeing other swimmers apparently enjoying themselves in the water, decided that if they could learn to swim, she could too. And she did.

Not only did she learn the rudiments of swimming, but while she was at it, she learned also all the fine points. So that now, almost any day, you can find her down along the beach, diving about like a porpoise, and taking special delight in teaching the children of the neighborhood the art that she was not permitted to learn until she had passed middle age.

THROWS VIEW BODY OF MICHAEL COLLINS

DUBLIN, Aug. 25.—(By the Associated Press.) The body of Michael Collins lay on its back in Dublin city hall today, while sorrowing Irishmen of all classes and creeds filed past for a last look at the features, set in the look of determined defiance with which the Free State commander-in-chief faced his foes to the end.

The flag-covered coffin, which arrived from Cork yesterday, was first removed to St. Vincent's hospital, where Arthur Griffith died so recently, and then, last night, to the city hall, where the body will lie in state until Sunday. The funeral has been set for Monday morning, with solemn high religious mass in the Pro-Cathedral and interment in Glasnevin cemetery.

It has been announced that the government will be continued along the exact lines laid down by Collins and Griffith and those left in charge, William Cosgrave and Richard Mulcahy, have expressed their determination to see the Free State for which the two lost leaders worked so indefatigably set on a firm foundation.

Mulcahy succeeds Collins as commander-in-chief of the national army, and Cosgrave is acting as head of the government. What actual changes will be made in the ministry is unknown, and the Dail Eireann session, set for Saturday, has been postponed.

ARSON AND MALICIOUS MISCHIEF CHARGED

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 25.—Raymond Clarke and Ernest L. Dinsmore, of South Portland, charged with arson and malicious mischief in attempting to burn the roundhouse at Thompson's Point where they were employed as engine wipers, and with running a locomotive into a turn-table pit, were held for the grand jury after a hearing in municipal court today.

Clarke pleaded guilty to the charges, then took the stand as the state's only witness against his fellow worker.

REBEL LEADERS ARE CAPTURED

Two Taken by National Troops Operating in County Mayo

McCormack Shot While Bandaging His Wounded Comrade

DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—(By the Associated Press).—A party of National troops operating in the Ballinaderreen area of County Mayo, under Colonel Commandant McCabe, captured 12 irregulars, together with a quantity of arms, ammunition and bombs and two automobiles, according to an official statement. Among the prisoners were two of the irregular leaders in eastern Mayo, named Corney and Josiah Kelly.

The statement adds that Lieutenant McCormack, who was killed in the ambush yesterday at Glisson, near Athlone, was "deliberately shot while bandaging his wounded comrade, Captain Rangan."

a member of the conference. No member of the conference is supposed to enter into agreement with the mills without the sanction of the joint committee of the unions.

Announcement has been made at the Smith & Dove company, that the old wage scale will be returned next Monday. The company reduced wages 20 per cent. 22 weeks ago, but the employees accepted it.

Accept Offer, Quit Conference

The American Federation of Textile Workers voted yesterday morning to accept the offer of the Pacific mills and to withdraw from the conference committee with the Oneida, Union and Simpson mills. A special meeting of the latter has been called for early in the afternoon. It is expected that they will withdraw from the conference, leaving the A.F. of T. alone.

With the decision of the A.F. of T., the American Federation of Textile Workers will be permitted to return to the Pacific mills on September 2, that date having been set as agreed to by the conference.

Everett Grants Old Scale

LAWRENCE, Mass., Aug. 25.—William D. Twiss, agent of the Everett Cotton mill, employing about 1300 announced today that full time operations will be resumed Sept. 5 with the new wage scale. The mill, which was closed last January, had been closed for 22 weeks ago.

band and apparently even to herself, the girl told an amazing story of her dissipation of a fortune on drugs—a fortune the source of which, she said, she did not know. She said she had been seeking a wealthy Chicago candy manufacturer, from whom it was hoped could be learned something of the girl's antecedents. A business associate said the manufacturer had been the protector of the girl's financial interests.

"I've spent $7000 since the first of the year—most of it for drugs," the girl of mystery said, asserting that she knew of herself in that she is helpless to an English estate.

Her husband, Nicholas E. Schaeffer, an army first sergeant, told of their marriage last January, after a courtship of a few weeks.

"I know nothing of Mabel's early history except that she came here from Lexington, Mass.," Mr. Schaeffer said.

Mrs. Schaeffer had been in a hospital for several days and when released, federal officers seized the girl of a nurse and marked money, traced her to the negro resort.

HIS CONDITION SERIOUS

Marshall Street Man Badly Injured in Attempt to Escape Police

In an attempt to elude the liquor officers, who were raiding his home about 9 o'clock last night in search of moonshine, Frank Procyrisak climbed the side of a three story house at 25 Marshall street, with the result that he either fell or jumped three stories. The doctors at St. John's hospital, where the injured man was taken, are doubtful as to his recovery. They fear that he may have sustained grave injury to his spine. In addition to several broken ribs.

When the officers put in their appearance at the man's house he began a mad scramble up the side wall and perched on the roof, three stories from the ground. He was clutching the edge of the roof with hands and feet. While the officers were trying to bring him to safety, his hold on the roof coping weakened and he plunged to the ground, 40 feet below. When the police reached him he was unconscious.

The members of the party, Officers Maloney, Conroy and Lynch, said that they went to the man's home in search of liquor and as they approached, they noticed a man, who had been standing outside, rush into the house. The officers crowded after him but he eluded the door. When they gained an entrance to the house they quickly made their way to the upper floors. As they reached the third floor, they saw a figure scramble through a window and begin the ascent of the side of the house. The officers leaned out of the window and saw a man hanging in the rear roof. They reached out in an attempt to bring the man to safety as he was in a precarious position. He remained in that position, clinging to the roof with an iron grip, for several minutes, when he either weakened or decided to jump, for his hold was broken and he plunged to the ground.

Officer Conroy was in the interior searching the premises when he heard a crash outside. Thinking that some one was throwing the "evidence" away he rushed outside and found the man lying unconscious on the ground. Before the accident occurred, the man said that they unearthed a 75-gallon still, fully equipped, six bottles of moonshine, 270 gallons of prepared barley mash, an empty five-gallon tank, two funnels, and a quantity of empty bottles.

The man was rushed to St. John's hospital and X-ray photographs were taken. The doctors say that these pictures did not disclose a fracture of the spine last night, but they fear serious internal injuries.

Both Sides Prepare for Fight their forces for a final fight in which both sides predicted an early victory. "We're going home to start the real fight," declared the union men, "in three months," declared the National Brotherhood, as he prepared to leave for Kansas City to direct activities of his branch of the shop.

H. M. Javell, head of the strike organization, of the one side, was equally positive of the outcome of the battle which he asserted, the railroad left as the only course for the unions to pursue. Before starting for Chicago to pick up the reins of strike leadership where he dropped them when recent police parleys began, he issued a statement to his men in which he said:

"We have gone the full limit in the interest of peace. If we must fight, we'll show you how now. Now that the issue is again clearly defined and false hopes of an early peace dissipated, the fight must be renewed with increased vigor and every man must do his full part to bring it to an early and successful conclusion."

"Gentlemen," he concluded, "what will be your answer to the challenge?"

Public to be Sufferers

The attitude of the Brotherhood chiefs, whose tireless efforts to promote a peaceful settlement proved so futile when negotiations collapsed yesterday afternoon, was expressed by T. C. Caghen, president of the Switchmen's union of North America.

"We are not sorry for the strike," he said, "but we are for the American public. They are going to be the sufferers—more and more, as the strike is prolonged."

Others of the big five leaders expressed great disappointment over their failure to end hostilities, but renewed their determination to run the railroad would refrain from any sympathetic strike, illegal walkout or conspiracy, "as long as the rights of the Brotherhood are not threatened."

Should such a situation arise, they declared, they would "use every legal means to bring about the preservation of our rights and other rights."

In rail employees' circles news of the disruption of peace parleys was given a varied reception. Officials of roads which were not party to the negotiations, having joined the majority which declined to resume discussions with the Brotherhood after last Wednesday's meeting of the Association of Railway Executives today were frankly saying "I told you so."

Predict Break in Strike

The minority—representing 77 roads with $500,000,000 of track and including such powerful systems as the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; Erie, New York Central and Seaboard Air Lines—today expressed regret at the sudden termination of efforts to compromise, but expressed no doubt as to the outcome.

"We'll break the strike within a week," was their general prediction. The metropolitan strike committee prepared to send organizers and speakers into every ship district in the east. The railroad's employment agencies not ready to take more men, while continuing to guard, who had relaxed their vigilance during the days of conference, returned to strict patrol duty.

For Government Control

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The federal administration was preparing to bring the anthracite coal and rail strike attention to an early culmination today with federal operation of the anthracite mines and some of the railroads under consideration should that become necessary to protect the public welfare.

Further developments in both the coal and rail situations were awaited by the administration before proceeding forth with the operation of federal operation as discussed at a conference last night between President Harding, Chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee, and Atty. Gen. Daugherty.

Administration overtures to the anthracite situation were believed today to have caused another meeting be-

SUNDAY IN A BLUE LAW TOWN

Above is what happened when "Blue Sunday" hit Piqua, O. Mayor A. M. DeWesse got impatient with gradual encroachments of blue ordinances, so he said: "If you're bound to have it blue, I'll make it indigo," and he did. He closed everything. Then he found he needed some "gas," and he had to drive eight miles to get it, as shown in the upper left picture. For the traveling salesman—well, just look at the upper right picture. tween the two parties to the dispute next week and hope that a final adjustment would be reached then was based on certain proposals which it was indicated would be presented to the prospective conference.

The sharp increase in bituminous production will make unnecessary a continuance of the super-priority system of distribution which has operated under the volunteer federal distribution organization was believed by its officials, who indicated that the organization probably would go out of existence next week. A situation of confusion, however, would be retained to provide a nucleus for any distribution agency which congress may create.

More Walkouts and Wrecks

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(By the Associated Press).—The ninth week of the railroad strike began today with peace negotiations collapsed. Heading considering steps to place certain roads and nonbenefit coal mines under federal control, train wrecks and further trouble with train crews, notably on the Chicago & Alton.

Walkouts on the C. & A. followed at Roadhouse, Ill., operating crews at Roadhouse and Siler, Mo., refusing to turn a wheel.

The new walkout at Siler was made in protest against the presence of guards who had been on duty since disorders earlier in the strike. Passenger trains on the Kansas City division were detained at Bloomington through Springfield and St. Louis.

Mobile & Ohio railroad officials were investigating last night's wreck of a passenger train at Whistler, Ala., in which several persons were injured. The engine and seven coaches left the rails when the train hit a half open switch. Officials following an investigation declared the switch was thrown half way and locked in a deliberate attempt to wreck the train.

The fifth dynamiting of two days on the Atlantic Coast Line railway occurred at Elwell Creek, near Jacksonville, Fla., when an attempt was made to blow up a bridge. The explosion occurred just after a passenger train bound for Tampa, crossed the trestle. The damage was said to have been slight. Two other trains passed over the bridge shortly after the explosion.

Train Crews Quit

SLATER, Mo., Aug. 25.—Chicago & Alton firemen here claiming that the equipment was in a dangerous condition and demanding that guards patrol only the district immediately surrounding the roundhouse, were refusing to move trains out of here today. The engineers went yesterday but no strike action was taken.

When train number 19 attempted to change engines here last night, no fireman could be found to take the train out. After several hours a non-union ship worker was pressed into service as a fireman and the train moved.

It got only as far as Marshall, Mo. 12 miles west of here and finally was annulled.

The "Hummer," a fast train from Chicago, due here about 2:30 last night, was held up until early today, and after a man was finally obtained to act as fireman, it got only as far as Gilman, four miles away.

talked by telephone to Secretary Hoover in Washington.

"While I can make no definite forecast," said Senator Pepper, "until I have had the same opportunity for a conference with the operators as I yesterday had with John L. Lewis and Philip Murray, president and vice president, respectively, of the United Mine Workers of America, I see no insuperable obstacle to amicable agreement. I am distinctly hopeful the disputants will find a way to avoid government seizure."

Mr. Lewis said there was no change in the situation as far as the mine workers were concerned. Samuel L. Warriner, spokesman for the operators, was out of the city.

der) Conant. When only three years old, he was brought to Lowell to live and it was about that time that his father established the business at 340 Central street, under the name of J. B. Conant.

Attended Edison School

He attended the Edison grammar school, from which he was graduated. He later attended Lowell high school, where he received his diploma. Even at an early age, in high school, he showed exceptional traits for business ability and it was not strange that he became associated with his father in auctioneering business.

Business ability seemed to run through the entire family for his grandfather, who started the business on a small scale in Manchester, Conn., was also highly successful. When Mr. J. B. Conant came here in 1851, it was only a few years before he was firmly established and had built up a big reputation as a reputable business man and one in whom absolute confidence might be placed.

The elder Conant died in August, 1878, but it was with pride that he left this world, secure in the knowledge that his son would carry on successfully his life's work. Mr. Conant's business connected him with the disposition of many large properties, but his specialty—all experts have a specialty—was the selling of manufacturing plants.

Active to the Last

Active to the very last, he turned over his property in the last part of June which brought $430,000 and which was among the biggest sales of his entire career. This was the sale of the B. B. Conant mill properties in this state. Other large transactions which are credited to his ability as an auctioneer are the sale of the Atlantic Coast mills in Lawrence for $545,000, Asileys & Bailey mills (ten in number, with plants in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and South Carolina) for $600,000, Lewis Publishing company in St. Louis for $339,000 and the South-land mills in Philadelphia for $400,000.

It was only two weeks ago that he visited Bridgeport, Conn., on business, looking after a mortgage for a big sale there. Even yesterday, as he talked with his manager, Henry S. Anthony, he made plans for a way in the city about six months in the year, yet he had time to take an interest and pride in Lowell. While he was in the city, he was a member of the city council and a member of the common council and with the first meeting of that body was chosen president. He was a member of the water board at one time.

During his early travels he met Laura Leland in Brooklyn, N. Y., and the couple were married there in November, 1884. He had a political debut in local politics. Mrs. Conant survives him as does their only child, Miss Natalie. His only other immediate living relatives are Mrs. Augusta (Conant) Fay, of this city, a sister, and Frederick (Conant) Conant, brother, who resides in Gloucester. Although he was brought up a member of St. John's Episcopal church, for a great many years he has been an attendant of St. Anne's church.

His Social Life

Out of his most busy life he managed to save a few hours for social affairs and club life. He was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of the Massachusetts K. K. K. association, the Vesper Country club, the Nashua and Longmeadow Country clubs, the Boston Art club, the York club and the Sequest club, Cape Cod. He was also associated with the old Puritan club, a social club, the game of golf and the horses. Although in recent years he has played little golf, he was considered a good player in his day and only this past week was discussing, with Mr. Anthony, the latest golfing news. He was a member of the Boston Golf and Country club, and he was a member of the Boston Golf and Country club.

He had few hobbies, but seemed to be interested in all wholesome things which embraced outdoor activity. His leisure time was devoted to the game of golf and the horses. Although in recent years he has played little golf, he was considered a good player in his day and only this past week was discussing, with Mr. Anthony, the latest golfing news. Mr. Dowers called to order shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Leary, City Engineer, Kearney and Supt. Doherty presiding. The mayor's letter was read and discussed immediately. It was finally decided to take up the Cabot street bridge proposition first. On the question of material to be used, Mr. Dowers stood flat-footedly for chemically treated lumber, kyanized preservative. The result was the instructions to Mr. Kearney to learn the cost, and report at the next meeting.

A request from the high school commission that the walks about the school in Kirk and Anna streets be of granite tile was next taken up. Engineer Kearney said that Anna street was already paved but he had heard of no other action. It was said that the high school commission, through its chairman, Mr. Lambert, claims the provision of the necessary funds is not up to the school department, and the communication was laid on the table until the next meeting to that the board was certain what can be done.

A letter from State Commander Charles N. Cole of the American Legion to Mayor George H. Brown was read, in which was contained the request that the mayor issue a departmental order granting a leave of absence with pay to those who are delegates and are employed in the public service. At but three men are affected and for but three days, Mayor Brown has taken the action requested.

Science Discovers That Vitamins are Absolutely Essential to Health

FRUIT JUICES A SOURCE OF VITAMINES

"FRUIT-A-TIVES," the Wonderfruit Medicine, is Rich in Health-Giving Vitamines

Thousands of men and women are falling off in health and vigor because the food they eat is lacking in one element, without which they cannot keep fit. This element is Vitamin. Ordinary meats and fish do not contain it. Milk is not rich in it. Manufactured foods have the vitamins destroyed in the process of manufacture. Some fruit juices are rich in vitamins. A careful examination of experiments conducted by both British and American authorities shows that oranges contain an abundance of both "B" and "C" vitamins and supplies contain a relatively large amount of these vital substances.

Why is it that "Fruit-a-tives" gives such marvellous results in overcoming Constipation, Impure Blood, Starved Nerves and a rundown system?

Because "Fruit-a-tives" is a true fruit medicine—the only medicine in the world made from intensified fruit juices. "Fruit-a-tives" is rich in the "B" and "C" vitamins derived from the juices of oranges and apples.

To take "Fruit-a-tives" regularly, is to supply the system with the vitamins which are needed and which are absolutely necessary to health.

as his own record is not entirely spotless. George Stanley Harvey, of Malden, is perhaps the leading republican candidate and the chief argument against him is, that he was for a number of years associated in the office of Nathan Tutts, although during the trial of Tutts, Mr. Harvey was not implicated in any of the crooked transactions.

Mr. Reilly has the endorsement of District Attorney Saltonstall and even one of his leading opponents, Mr. Harvey, acknowledges Mr. Reilly's ability as a trial lawyer, a qualification that should be a shoe que non for this important office. It is understood that Mr. Reilly will seek endorsement in the republican primary where he expects very strong support. The people of Middlesex county have had a most unsavory experience with republican control of the district attorney's office and it would not be surprising if they would now decide to elect a candidate from the opposition party. The great desideratum in selecting a candidate for district attorney is not what party he belongs to, but whether he is honest and capable of discharging the duties of the office in a creditable manner. That Mr. Reilly has this qualification of honesty and integrity is beyond dispute and this is one of the strongest if not the only reason for urging his election.

United States Senator

The contest for the nomination for United States senator is waxing rather warm throughout the state, particularly between Hon. Sherman Whipple and Col. William A. Gaston. Mr. Whipple has a big corps of campaigners out nightly in his service and they are not at all scrupulous as to what they say about Mr. Gaston. The slogan of "Whip 'em with Whipple," is not one to be admired, as it is a very poor attempt at a catchy alliterative phrase. It is not any worse, however, than that which is used by some of the Gaston supporters, which is to "Gag 'em with Gaston."

Mr. Conant, for years maintained some of the best driving horses in the state. At one time he possessed one of the best four-in-hand turnouts in Middlesex county. He always averred that he would never have given up his horses until he had driven them all over the state. "There is no longer room for both the horse and auto on the road," he said. "The auto has crowded out the faithful animal and I cannot bear to see horses neglected by the new breed of motorists. I was with the greatest reluctance that he disposed of his fine horses."

Pancreas Monday

Because of his great love for the outdoors and the desire to prevent the waste of God's choicest gifts he was strongly opposed to floral tributes at funerals. Only the other day, he was riding with Mr. Anthony when a funeral passed which included the vehicles led by a hearse. He remarked: "It is a shame to see those beautiful flowers cut from the stem. The money spent for them might well be used by the persons the deceased has left after him. They can be put to good use in this manner."

He finally requests that flowers be omitted at the funeral, which will be at 2 o'clock on Monday. Burial will be in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery.

SITUATION ALARMING

BIREN, Aug. 26.—(By the Associated Press).—The economic distress prevailing in many sections of Germany threatens to become a general consequence of the enormous fall in the value of the mark, and the situation is causing the government serious concern.

A number of relief measures were considered by the officials yesterday, and in discussions were given that the government is ready for presentation today at a council of ministers, over which President Ebert will preside.

The premiers and ministers of the various German states have been invited to Berlin to discuss the situation with the government on Monday.

Walker Hits Lodge

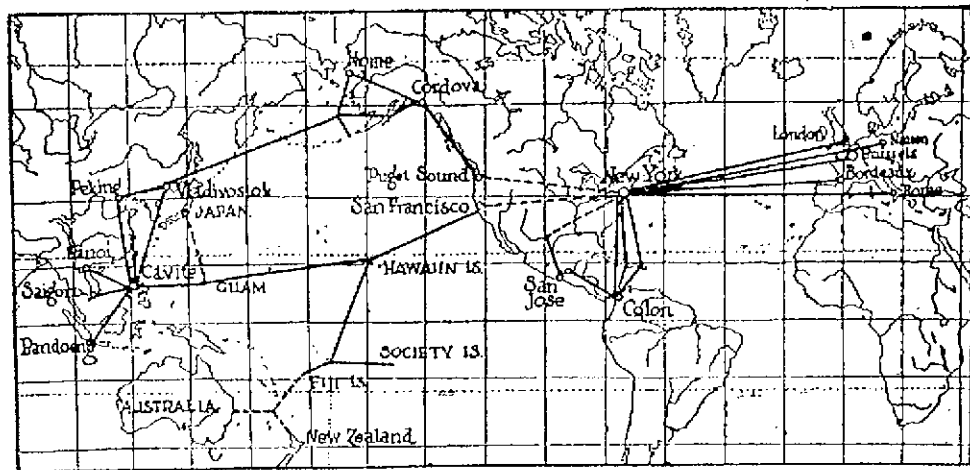

Mr. Joseph Walker, candidate for the United States senate, is keeping right after Mr. Lodge and even confronted him at the Marshfield fair which was more of a political powwow than most other events of the kind held in the state. Mr. Lodge was there of course and he dealt at great length in his discussion of the friendly relations that existed between his father's family and that of Daniel Webster. He also discussed some of Webster's orations and gave his view as to why Mr. Webster spoke as he did. The people who listened to Mr. Lodge must have wondered he was really a political Rip Van Winkle just awakened from a long sleep. This idea was emphasized when Joseph Walker took the platform and made this declaration:

"I do not covet Mr. Lodge's seat in the senate of the United States. I should be glad to tailor in him the honor and emoluments of the office as

RADIO CHAIN OF THE U. S. NAVY AIDED BY LAND CABLES TO OTHER PARTS OF THE WORLD

By N. E. A. Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—The world's greatest radio business is being conducted by the United States Navy.

Facts and figures given out by naval officials here show an increased volume of messages among the department's radio stations, which they say surpasses the business of any other country or corporation on earth. That does not exclude the world-wide Imperial Radio Chain, which is being contemplated by Great Britain.

The immensity of the naval radio service may be judged from the fact that the department has more than $25,000,000 invested in this undertaking. More than 8,000,000 words are transmitted monthly. Besides its own official business, the navy does $10,000,000 worth of commercial radio business annually.

Covers Globe
This naval radio business extends to all parts of the earth, over land and sea—and into the air. For each naval airplane also has a complete transmitting and receiving set by which it can communicate with its ship or land station or with other airplanes.

Along both our coasts and at points on our island possessions are naval radio compass stations which form a chain of safety for ships at sea. There are more than 50 of these stations, all built up within the last three years.

By furnishing bearings to ships approaching the coast, these stations have helped considerably in saving lives, time and property. It is during foggy weather or stormy seas, that a vessel seeking port finds the aid of the naval compass station most beneficial. For lying off port until the fog lifts or the storm calms means an expense of at least $500 to the ship owner.

Fleet Link
For the fleet, radio is an essential link. Emergencies, maneuvers and all sorts of utility work come under the direct orders of the naval department at Washington—by means of radio. There are some 650 naval ship stations, 102 naval airplane stations and 180 shore stations—all of which are joined together by radio. These stations are all over the globe, on possessions of the United States and at various points in the open sea.

Powerful stations they are, too. The station at Presidio, near San Francisco, is one of the finest in the world. The first high-power continuous wave station was built by the United States navy in the Canal Zone in 1914. During the war naval engineers put up what is one of the world's most powerful stations at Bordeaux, France. This station has since been turned over to France.

Radio Set for Every Family Is Prediction of Inventor

LEE DE FOREST

By N. E. A. Service
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Twenty million radio receiving sets will be in operation in the United States within five years!

That is the startling prediction made here by Lee De Forest, inventor and pioneer in radio progress. De Forest is best known as the inventor of the audion, or three-element vacuum tube, by which modern radio has been made possible.

According to this inventor, nearly every family in the United States will have a radio set by 1927. The radio, he says, will surpass the phonograph and even the telephone in popularity, because of its wide variety of entertainment.

By 1927, De Forest adds, radio will be developed so that any person will be able to operate it with ease, and it will be cheap enough to be in the home of every family in the country. Broadcasting will make itself as indispensable as the wire telephone, De Forest believes. Weather forecasts and market reports for the farmer, health and beauty talks, public speeches, concerts and many other sorts of entertainment will be sent out in a much more centralized basis than prevails today.

LIQUOR RAID IN HUB

Booze in Tremont Temple
Bldg. Closet Where Traffic
Officers Keep Raincoats

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Main clothes men attached to the City Hall avenue police station, led by Sergeant Frank M. Magee, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, raided the Tremont Temple building on Tremont street and after making one arrest, seized eight quarts of liquor.

The liquor was discovered after a search by the police in a closet on the right hand side of the wall near the north entrance to the building.

Two police officers of the Boston traffic squad used the same closet as a storage place for their raincoats.

Although the alleged bootlegger is a small man, he put up a fight which attracted an alarmed crowd and obliged the three plain clothes men to appeal to employees of the building for assistance.

The man when booked at the police station gave his name as Benedetto Caverello of 21 Battery street, North End.

At first he told the police that he was the janitor of the Temple, but when upon investigation by the police it was learned that he was in no way directly connected with the building, he then admitted to the police that he was not the janitor, but was unable to explain how he managed to secure permission to use the closet as a store room for his moonshine.

The liquor was prepared in pint bottles and they were sealed and corked as though bottled and bottled. They were, according to the police, arranged in order behind the benches, brooms and pails, and stored in the closet which is used by the janitor of the building. The janitor, however, claimed to have no knowledge of the fact that his closet contained the liquor.

According to the police, officers have been watching the building for four days and four nights following the receipt of a "tip" that booze was being sold at the Tremont Temple building. Yesterday they decided to visit the building in an effort to secure a sale and were successful.

Jumps Track, and Crashes

Hospital

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 26.—A crowded trolley car ran wild down Madison avenue hill during a terrific rain and electrical storm here last night, jumped the tracks after speeding three city blocks and was wrecked against concrete and metal lighting poles on a corner. Twenty-two passengers were removed to hospitals.

The momentum of the car increased in its dash down the hill and it snapped off the poles on the corner and left the car directly in front of the steps of an apartment building.

Prior reports from the hospital were to the effect that none of the passengers had been seriously injured, the majority suffering from bruises and shock.

MANY LOWELL PEOPLE IN LOS ANGELES

It may be of interest to residents of this city to learn that there is practically a colony of Lowell people living in Los Angeles, Cal. This information was given out by Joseph Landry, a veteran of the World war, who, while touring the country with his wife for his health, which was greatly impaired through the effect of shells and gases on the battlefields of France, spent six months in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Landry returned to Lowell a short time ago and they intend to establish themselves here indefinitely. Mr. Landry stated that during his stay in Los Angeles he met Phillip David, a former resident of this city, who left Lowell a great many years ago. Mr. David will be remembered here as a painting contractor and chief-master at St. Joseph's church. Shortly after his arrival in California he went into the orange growing business and achieved a great success. He is now 72 years of age and has retired from active work.

Charles G. Vian and his family are also located in Los Angeles, but when Mr. Landry left the California city, the Vian family was making preparations to move to San Francisco. Mr. Vian was a plumbing and heating contractor in this city. He left here about two years ago and settled in Los Angeles, where he secured employment as a traveling salesman for a large plumbing concern. One of his sons is engaged in the electrical business, while another is conducting a plumbing establishment. The Vian people are prosperous, but they are talking of coming back to Lowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Telephore Foubert, formerly of Methuen street, are also residents of Los Angeles. Mr. Foubert, who, while on his stay in the city, was employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company has been transferred to the Los Angeles office of the company and is doing well. This couple are planning to come to Lowell next year to dispose of their real estate and it may be that they will return to the west.

Patrick McAniff, a glazier formerly employed by the C. B. Coburn Co. of this city, is also a member of the Lowell community at Los Angeles. Mr. McAniff with his wife and children left Lowell about two years ago. Mr. McAniff is a real estate broker and Mr. Landry reports that he is one of the wealthy men of Los Angeles.

Dr. Laurin, a dentist, who formerly conducted an office at Tower's corner, is practicing dentistry in the California city. The doctor left Lowell for Los Angeles about a year ago, and ever his office is the same in which he was located in this city, "He Don't Hurt."

"The latest recruits for Los Angeles are Mr. and Mrs. Simon Lagasse, who at one time made their home in the Centralville section of this city. For the past few years the Lagasse family has been located in Worcester, but a few months ago they crossed the country and located at Los Angeles. Mr. Lagasse intends to go into the real estate business. There are several other former Lowell residents in Los Angeles, but Mr. Landry was unable to recall their names. He says the city is an ideal place for a craftsman, for there is considerable building going on, but a man without a trade had better keep away.

MORE RAIDS BY LIQUOR SQUAD

A near beer saloon on Middlesex street was raided by the liquor squad yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock and a pint bottle of whiskey was seized. The officers said that one of the clerks would be charged with violation of the prohibition laws. The officers in the party were Lynch, Maloney, Consett, and Trudell.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Officers Maloney, Aldrich, Killoy, and Consett swooped down on a house in Grand street where they say they found six and one-half gallons of moonshine jug, and other paraphernalia. No arrests were made at the time of the raid.

Brother of Rollins Brothers Arrested

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Robert T. Rollins and George Kinsman were arrested on charges of assault and robbery early today. The Old-Time Dance Is Due For a Comeback—And Why

By MARIAN HALE

The revival of the cakewalk is the outstanding result of the annual convention of the American National Association of Dancing Masters.

Everyone will be doing it before the season is over.

And that isn't all. We'll shed our troubles, beautifully and naturally. The landlord will be forgotten and the bills will lie unopened while we go on with the dance.

Obviously, the interest in this old-fashioned, popular, 29 years' back has been fostered by the colored revival which are thick on Broadway.

But if you care for a more high-brow, psychological explanation, you may have that too. I got it from Valodia Vestoff, who introduced the cakewalk at the convention. Says he: "Dancing reduces the mental attitude of a people. In calm, leisurely times we had the beautiful waltz, in formal days the stately minuet.

"Recently we have been going at a terrific rate and have danced wildly and recklessly. That's because life has been driving us too hard.

"Now, as a nation, we are tired. The strain of high rents, unemployment and disillusionment generally has brought on a need for relaxation so that we may regain our pulse. And here is where the cakewalk will be our able ally.

"You can't be worried about business, or full of complexes, and dance the cakewalk. Or if you start out that way the music and dance will change you.

"The cakewalk will restore our balance and our disposition.

"Scientists say music has a decided influence on the pituitary gland. Military music excites it and sends an extra helping of its secretion into the blood.

"This puts up the heart and gives you that feeling of exhilaration that causes you to straighten up your shoulders and mark time with your feet.

"Slow, sad music puts the brakes on the pituitary gland, and almost makes it forget to function. The heart action decreases and with that comes depression and sadness.

"Now the music for the cakewalk just pleasantly exhilarates and relaxes at the same time, which is exactly what we need at this time."

Of course, other dances are scheduled for the winter. The tango for instance. Dancing masters love that dance, but giving an effect as complicated as those achieved by Irene Castle.

But pin your faith on the cakewalk. That's where the knowing ones are placing the big bets.

Gambling Casino Rivals Monte Carlo

MOSCOW, Aug. 26.—(By the Associated Press)—A gambling casino rivaling the famous Monte Carlo casino in magnitude of play has been opened in Moscow. Crowds are continually milling about the various tables during the hours of play, which are from 8 in the evening until 10 in the morning. There is a scattering representation of foreigners, but those who spend the night at bacarat, roulette and other games where the minimum play ranges from ten million to one hundred million rubles are mostly Moscovites. Millions of rubles change hands on each deal at bacarat. Most of the profit taken by the house goes to the government in taxes or famine benefits. The house draw of 5 per cent. is reported on one night to have totalled more than fifty billion rubles, indicating that the play reached one trillion rubles, or the equivalent of $325,000.

MORE THAN 150 PERSONS INJURED BY AUTOS LAST SATURDAY

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Asks Co- operation of Police and Public— New Law Relative to Sale of Firearms Will Become Operative Monday—State House News

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—More than one hundred and fifty persons were injured in automobile accidents in this state last Saturday and Sunday, and in addition, eight were killed.

This appalling number is declared by Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, to have been too great a sacrifice to speed and recklessness, and he is hopeful that during the present week-end, as well as at all other times when motor vehicle traffic is heavy, the police will send to him the names of all persons who try to use too much speed on crowded highways.

"One of the principal causes of last week's accidents," Mr. Goodwin says, "was the all too prevalent custom of attempting to pass other vehicles on crowded thoroughfares, necessitating sudden cutting in front of other machines."

"I hope that in future the police, and other persons as well, will send to me the names of all operators who are guilty of this dangerous practice, so that I may deal with them as they deserve. Any operator who frequently heavily travelled highways must make up his mind that he cannot go faster than the line of travel in which he happens to find himself, unless he is absolutely sure he can pass without having to cut in front of another car. Practically all the operators on the highways on Sundays are on pleasure bent, and they should operate carefully and unselfishly."

"To kill eight persons and injure one hundred and fifty more is sacrificing too much to speed and selfishness. The only way to stop this is by strict enforcement by the police. I trust the police, every day, in their power to prevent repetition of last week's slaughter."

Sale of Firearms

On Monday next there will become operative in this state a new law governing the sale of firearms, measure which radically changes the system which has been in vogue in this state for many years.

It takes away from the city council its authority to grant licenses for the sale of firearms, and transfers this authority to the registrar of motor vehicles. In addition it provides that every licensed dealer must report to the local police and to the state commissioner of public safety, at least once each week, every sale made in which a firearm is involved.

The most drastic provisions, however, are those which relate to the purchase of a firearm. Under its terms, no alien may purchase a firearm of any kind unless he has a permit to carry it. A citizen who has no permit to carry a firearm must give at least twenty-four hours' notice of his intention to purchase one, and immediately upon the giving of such notice the dealer is required to report it to the police. In order that opportunity may be given them to investigate the character of the applicant, and to determine whether he is a proper person to be permitted to carry a dangerous weapon.

Big Shortage of School Buildings

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Despite the fact that a number of new school buildings will be opened in various parts of the state during the coming month, the shortage which has developed in school buildings is so serious that it is evident that a near future will overcome it, according to the view expressed by officials of the state department of education today. Local authorities have been spurred to action during the past year to provide additional school facilities and as a result, new, larger high schools or senior high schools are being planned or practically completed in the following communities, Boston, Fall River, New Bedford, Lynn, Passachusetts, South Norwell, Weymouth, Lowell, Fitchburg, Woburn, Nor-well, Waltham, Brookline, Chelsea, Boston, Cambridge, Malden, Littleton, Northbridge, West Springfield, Agawam, Longmeadow, Belchertown, Ware, Palmer and Charlton. Besides the foregoing construction, it is estimated there are 100 additional schools needed in communities in the state.

The department points out that a special study was made into the question of the shortage of building and it was disclosed that a number of schools were forced to take care of two classes on the same day, which was termed a "double session." In fact, it was revealed that 41,000 pupils were attending school under this handicap.

Dwelling upon the increase in the number of pupils who must be accommodated with school facilities, the report of the department reads, "The normal rate of new construction was retarded the unusual conditions prevailing as a result of the war, there occurred an increase of over 14,000 in the number of pupils to be housed.
Various causes other than the natural increase have been operating to bring about this growth in pupil numbers.
The recent law raising the requirement to be met before the children under 16 years of age are permitted to leave school and the failure of industry to employ the usual number of children owing to the recent industrial depression are factors that have helped to retard the schools a larger propo-tion of the other pupils than remained heretofore."

"More than one half the places reporting a shortage of buildings are either constructing new school houses or have made an appropriation for the purpose. Thirty-four buildings are now being constructed at a cost of nearly $7,000,000.

SUCCESSFUL PERIOD FOR CADILLAC

"Cadillac has been experiencing the most successful period in its history," says Mr. H. H. Rice, president and general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car company, in a statement issued at the request of representatives of the press.

In the first place, the Type 61 Cadillac cars have been the most successful cars mechanically, in that the company has ever produced in its 29 years of production of quality cars," according to Mr. Rice.

In the second place, the production and sales of the Type 61 cars have been proceeding at a rate considerably in excess of the schedules.
A majority of our distributors report by far the best business in their entire career.

"There has been a gradual enlargement of the Cadillac service and sales organization until it now includes many communities heretofore regarded as somewhat too small for a sales and service station of a quality car."

The Type 61 as it stands today contains within itself many improvements even over what it was several months ago. Scarcely a week passed without some new line of improvement being exercised in building the car. In fact, on many parts, even more care is used than in making wheels.

"The builders of the Cadillac are constantly installing manufacturing and engineering improvements as rapidly as they can be proved and found decidedly advantageous to the owner of the Cadillac car."

ONE DEAD, ONE MAY DIE
IN CROSSING ACCIDENT

CUMBERLAND, R. I., Aug. 26.—One man is dead and two may die as the result of a collision between an automobile and a train on the Berkley crossing here early last night. The automobile sped down a steep hill approaching the blind crossing and when the brakes would not hold the driver attempted to beat the train across. He was late by seconds and the locomotive
hit the rear wheel of the car, throwing it 15 feet.

Thomas Slater, aged 22, of Ashton,
was killed outright.
Joseph Laussier, aged 24, of Mendon
road, Berkley, is dying in Pawtucket

Memorial hospital with a fractured
spine and internal injuries.

Charles Harpley, aged 28, is in a critical condition at his home in Ashton with a fractured femur and internal injuries.

Fred Bascombe, aged 30, of Ashton
and his seven-year-old son, Fred Jr.,
escaped with minor injuries.
The machine was owned by Bascombe. He had invited his three friends to attend a twilight baseball
game on Berkley oval and the party
had left Ashton shortly before seven o'clock. The train on the Worcester & Providence railroad was late and the crossing tender, Gunther Sashider, declares that he waved his "stop" signal just as the automobile topped the crest of the hill. There are no safety
gates at the crossing.
